Seminar contents.

In the morning session of our roadshow, we will discuss seating solutions for children with different types of disabilities.

The decision making process is our main focus; we will use the ICF-CY framework to organise interests, evidence and daily life activities to find the correct seating solution.

The solution we offer should enable and support an anatomical posture that guides body structures in their physiological form. Furthermore, it should be comfortable so that pain and fatigue do not worsen the situation of the child using the chair. We'll delve into the different aspects, discuss the opportunities and challenges in finding a balance between guidance, support and freedom during seating and look at dynamic seating as well.

In the afternoon, we will look at standing aids. Again, the decision making process is our main focus using ICF-CY framework to influence the decision to select the right standing frame for your patient.

Last but not least, we put some motion into our roadshow: we will show how malte. or marcy. fit into gait training and share some ideas of how cycling supports the walking abilities of our little clients.
